Guidelines on Refusing Examiners

Candidates may refuse to be examined by certain examiners. It is useful to discuss this with your Principal Supervisor and make this clear prior to the exam. If you refuse too many examiners, it may be difficult to assemble an Examination Board for you. If in doubt about whom to refuse at the exam meeting, discuss this with the Examination Supervisor. You would refuse an examiner:
• With whom you have done a significant amount of training or supervision
• With whom you have had exam preparation supervision in the previous six months
• Who deferred you at a previous examination
• For whom or against whom you are prejudiced
• With whom you have a significant personal or business relationship
